

International Journal for Intersectional Feminist Studies

The Journal of Project Monma Research Centre

Volume 3, Issue 2, October 2017

ISSN 2463-2945

Contents

Editorial Collective Report .....	3
Slam Poetry- A link between black feminism and oral poetry traditions .....	4
Anna George .....	4
Semiotic Study of Sindoor .....	26
Sharonee Dasgupta .....	26
How does media exposure influence young girls' sexuality? .....	34
Monika Sargayooos.....	34

Editorial Collective Report

This is the first second issue, that we have published and are glad to see the growth of our journal. In this issue, we publish three papers which are a mixture of an article, social commentary, and a literature review. It has been a long journey and we have received different papers, all across the globe, touching on different aspects of gender. In this issue, three papers have been published.

The first paper authored by Anna George makes links between slam poetry, black feminism, and traditional oral poetry traditions. The second paper is a social commentary by Sharonee Dasgupta discusses Sindoor (red colour powder wear by married Hindu women in India), patriarchy and gender issues. Monika Sargayoos in her literature review has highlighted the links between young girls' sexuality and media links.

The collective editorial looks forward to receiving more contributions on diverse issues. To contribute your work or for any queries, please contact Ambika Kohli at ambikakohli@hotmail.com

Dr. Ambika Kohli

Dr. Rabia Ali

Johanna Higgs